

Hello, and welcome to PG&E's Learning Management System, or LMS, Community.

My name is Jerilyn Gleaves, and I lead Supply Chain Responsibility at PG&E.

That includes supplier diversity, supply chain environmental sustainability, as well as supplier code of conduct.

We created this inclusive space to bring together small and diverse business owners like you, who are interested in learning, growing, and building community.

This is a free resource where you can exchange ideas, share experiences, and continue to learn from industry experts and other business owners in real time.

We're committed to growing this community and welcome your input.

We hope to see you often leveraging this platform to increase your knowledge on topics like cyber security, going global, disaster preparedness, and more.

You can post, share, reply, and join the conversation today.

We're thrilled that you're here and thank you for joining us.